LEADING PHYSICIAN OUT FOR MANTONE

Baltimore authority tells why celebrated discovery is World's best tonic.

It will be of great interest to local residents, especially those who are in search of a reliable blood-maker, system-builder and reconstructive tonic to read the statement of Dr. M. H. Carter, the prominent Baltimore physician. It gives me pleasure to state what I think of Mantone as a general reconstructive tonic, being familiar with the ingredients used in the prescription.

"Iron is absolutely necessary to enable your blood to change food into tissue, muscle and brain, and taking this product in combination of strength-building iron, nerve-making phosphorus, nux vomica and other life-giving properties, with to say that in my opinion, it cannot be improved upon."

"If you are weak, rundown, anemic or lack strength of body and mind, need more rich, red blood, stronger nerves and more power and energy, take Mantone. It is not a patent medicine but a famous prescription of Dr. John McDonald, of Washington, N. C. Hundreds have testified to Mantone's merits. Guaranteed—no benefit—no cost. Sold by the People's Drug Stores or mailed postpaid anywhere for $1.00 per box."

BERGDOLL COUNSEL DENY "PLOT" STORY

Attorneys Ansell and Bailey Denounce Justice Department's Version of Escape.

Declaring they have nothing to conceal with regard to their connection with the case of Grover Cleveland Bergdoll, convicted draft evader who escaped from his military guard while on an ostensible hunt for hidden money last Friday, Ansell & Bailey, who acted as counsel for Bergdoll, today issued a statement calling to attention that other prominent persons connected with the case believed Bergdoll's tale about his hidden treasure.

The lawyers also announced that in conjunction with D. Clarence Giboney, of Bergdoll's Philadelphia counsel, they have offered a $1,000 reward for information leading to the arrest of Bergdoll, in addition to the $2,500 for his apprehension and delivery they previously had offered.

Text of Statement.
"Last night's press statement issued by the Attorney General, Bergdoll's counsel, is a distortion of the facts. The Department of Justice was advised as early as April 30 that a plot had been planned whereby Bergdoll was to get bail in a habeas corpus proceeding and then jump it. The statement further says that the information of the plot came first to the War Department and then through that source to the Department of Justice. It is very remarkable that the information seems not to have been furnished the adjutant general of the army, the department official expressly charged by law with the administration of military prisons, military prisoners, nor to the chief of staff, nor to the Secretary of War. With information worthy of the name in their possession, they doubtless never would have granted the permission, and with such information we certainly never should have asked permission. It was probably regarded at the time, even by present wisecracks, as not worthy of notice."

"It is a trait so common as to be forgivable for most of us to make the flattering discovery in the after light of events that our wisdom is much superior to that of those who have acted to their infinite embarrassment. It is true that Mr. Giboney believed the story about the hidden money; Judge Westcott believed it; we believed it as related to us by Mr. Giboney in the presence of Judge Westcott. The adjutant general of the army, to whom we related it as it was related to us, believed it sufficiently to recommend that permission be granted to the chief of staff, or the Secretary of War, to whom it was presented, believed it sufficiently to grant the permission. The War Department had ample precedent for granting the permission, and we believe it was justified in so doing in this case."

Westcott Approved Brief.
"We observe that Judge Westcott, of counsel in this case, is quoted in the Philadelphia papers as denying the statement contained in our application to the War Department that he is of counsel in the case and as congratulating himself over never having touched it. When Mr. Giboney retained him, he informed us that Judge Westcott had been retained in the case in a consulting capacity some time before while Bergdoll was undergoing court-martial, and that he was still so retained. Mr. Giboney introduced the judge to us in our offices as such counsel, and he has conferred with us upon the case twice, once very fully and once very briefly. The brief which we filed with the War Department was submitted by Judge Westcott, who went over it carefully, approved it, and submitted a copy of it to the Secretary of War. Inclosed in a letter which was dictated by Judge Westcott, a copy of which on file in our office is as follows:

"Washington, D. C., May 7, 1920.
"Hon. Newton D. Baker,
"Secretary of War,
"Washington, D. C.
"My Dear Mr. Secretary:
"I beg to inclose you a brief in the case of Grover Bergdoll. The brief is exhaustive and conclusive. There is not the slightest doubt in the world but that the war authorities made a mistake. I am enormously interested in the situation and want, if possible, to keep the matter out of the courts. There is very little question but that the Judge Advocate General will properly dispose of the case.
"I hope that you are very well. It has been a long time since I last had the pleasure of seeing you, but I have kept a very interested gaze upon your work.
"Believe me, Very cordially and sincerely yours,
(I incl.)
Judge Westcott on the occasion of his second visit to our office exhibited to us the Secretary's letter in which he pleasantly acknowledged receipt of the Judge's letter and the brief.
Nothing to Conceal.
"So far as our connection with the Bergdoll case is concerned, we stand in the open. We shall conceal nothing, we shall evade nothing, we shall not attempt to shift any of our responsibility from ourselves to others. We were counsel for Bergdoll. The record of this case was before the War Department where by law it is required to be reviewed to determine its legality, and where counsel is entitled to be heard upon that question. We believed that he did not have a legal trial.
"We believed that the Judge Advocate General of the Army would have to disapprove the proceedings of his court-martial; and in the event he should not do so, we were convinced that the Federal Courts, following the authorities, would certainly do so. We are convinced that the Adjutant General of Pennsylvania never drafted this man into the army of the United States, and that his attempt to do so was null and void by reason of the Pennsylvania Adjutant General's flagrant violations of mandatory law and regulations in compliance with which is necessary in order to result in inducting a civilian into the military service and making him subject to trial by court-martial. However, strong popular prejudice against a so-called "blackie," popular opinion is unwise if, because of its indignation in any case, it would relax the strict requirements of the law subjecting a civilian to military control, or cast aside the fundamental safeguards of civil rights.
"As lawyers, we hope the public will permit us to say that we shall never be impelled by popular favor to take a cause which we believe to be unworthy, nor shall we ever decline to defend what we believe to be an accused because of unfavorable popular opinion. To be governed otherwise, would be to concur in the substitution of trial and punishment by popular clamor for trial and punishment by law."

"SAMUEL T. ANSELL."
In announcing the additional reward for Bergdoll's apprehension, Ansell & Bailey made public the following telegram to Mr. Giboney: "May 25, 1920.
"D. Clarence Giboney, 920 Walnut Street, Philadelphia, Pa.:
"We hereby confer upon you our authority for joining with us to offer a reward of $1,000 to be paid to any person who shall give information which results in the apprehension and delivery by another of Grover Cleveland Bergdoll to the proper military authorities. This in addition to the $2,500 reward previously offered for the apprehension and delivery."
"ANSELL & BAILEY."

"WHOOZY" SOCIAL LIONS PACE DRAWING ROOMS

"Buds" Exposed to Tainted Atmosphere Since Prohibition, Says Dr. Elliot.

BOSTON, May 26.—Enforcement of the prohibition amendment is being resisted by "a part of our social organization that we are pleased to call good society," President (emeritus) Charles W. Elliot of Harvard University said at a meeting of the Unitarian Temperance Society yesterday.

"These people are causing a great deal of trouble all over the country, principally in teaching lawlessness to the young," he continued, adding: "I know whereof I speak by reason of my knowledge of the undergraduate body of Harvard University."

Dr. Elliot said young women are meeting young men in what he termed in "whoozy" condition at social affairs which are countenanced by marions of good social standing. The fact that these young women do not object to meeting men in this condition, he declared, is impeding enforcement of the prohibition amendment.

The speaker cited incidents that had come under his observation to show that conditions among working people had improved through prohibition.

ALLIGATOR STEAKS ADD PIQUANCY TO THEIR CHOW

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, May 26.—Perhaps alligator steaks would never appeal to fastidious diners in first-class restaurants, but United States marines attached to the American legation guard here say they are the best thing for adding piquancy to the daily fare.

Marine sharpshooters make a specialty of bagging young alligators. When the skin is removed steaks are cut from the fleshy part of the tail. The meat is clear white, palatable and has something the flavor of halibut.

Another variety in the bill of fare is broiled lizard. The iguana, or giant lizard, has been used for food by the natives for many years. The marines say iguanas make fine "chow," but they prefer alligator for a steady diet.

TWO KILLED WHEN PLANE TAKES 300-FOOT DROP

SIoux CITY, Iowa, May 26.—Arthur Strome, thirty years old, a theater owner, and Thorson Solberg, thirty-one years old, blacksmith, both single, were killed instantly when their airplane in which they were riding fell 300 feet at Paulina, Iowa, seventy-five miles north of here. Both lived in Paulina.

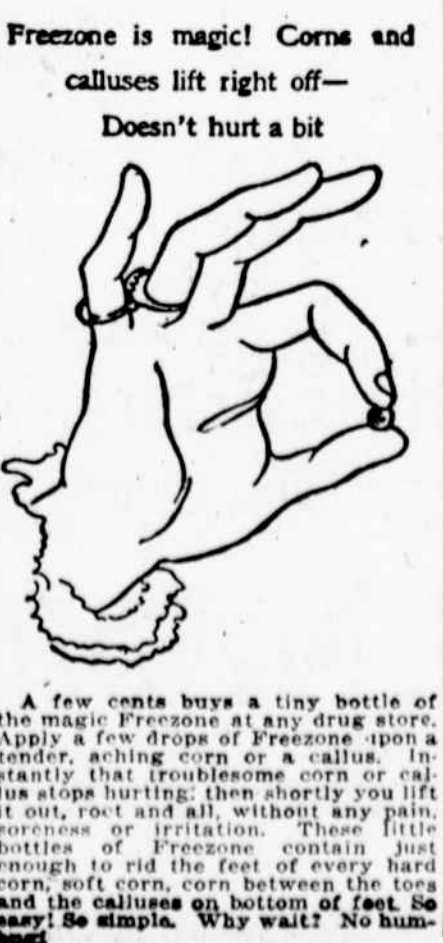

JAP NAVY BUDGET CUT.

Tokyo, May 26.—The cabinet has voted to reduce the Japanese naval budget from $33,000,000 to $22,000,000. It was officially reported.

The original program after extension will not be interfered with, authorities said.

DANCING AT SEA TO MUSIC FROM SHORE

Phonograph Record at Asbury Park Heard Aboard Ship 200 Miles Away.

BALTIMORE, May 26.—Passengers on steamers plying the ocean near the Atlantic Coast are now enjoying dances on the deck to the strains of music played on shore hundreds of miles away. By means of a new wireless telephone device, music from an ordinary phonograph record can be heard at least 200 miles out at sea. Through this device dancing may be enjoyed by passengers on steamers, although these have no orchestras on board.

Capt. Thomas P. Pratt, of the steamer Juanita, of the Merchants and Miners' Transportation Company, which arrived from Boston last Saturday, heard distinctly a record being played on a phonograph at Asbury Park, 200 miles away, simply by listening in on the ordinary wireless apparatus. The Ontario, of the same line, is being equipped with a receiving and reproducing device by which a large number of passengers may hear the music. Other vessels of the company, if the experiments being conducted prove successful, may be equipped with similar devices. The device is a product of an electric company which has built a wireless telephone experiment station near Asbury Park. Ships of the Merchants and Miners' Transportation Company are being used in conducting the experiments. Captain Pratt, of the Junata, said yesterday that although his ship is not equipped with a wireless telephone device, the sending apparatus at Asbury Park is such that the human voice and music can be heard through the ordinary wireless receiver instead of the customary dots and dashes.

CARDINAL O'CONNELL FETES IRISH IN ROME

ROME, May 26.—Cardinal O'Connell, Archbishop of Boston, yesterday held a reception in honor of the Irish delegates to the beatification of Oliver Plunkett, Ireland's first primate.

The Cardinal displayed great interest in explanations of the present situation of affairs in Ireland and expressed deep concern for the welfare of the Irish people.

On the trip down from Boston Captain Pratt conferred with Captain Bond, of the Ontario, which left Boston bound for Philadelphia seven hours after the Junata left for Baltimore. The ships were more than fifty miles apart. As the Junata is not equipped with the wireless telephone, it was necessary for the wireless operator to carry on Captain Pratt's part of the conversation. Captain Pratt said, however, that Captain Bond's voice came to him clearer than the ordinary voice over the regular telephones.
